It will be returned to you at the computer operator’s desk immediately after your presentation.

5. Devices for Presentations

- (1) Please use the keyboard and mouse that are set up on the podium during your presentation.
- (2) The monitor screen on the podium will be set on standby with your presentation data already open in PowerPoint. Please operate the slides by yourself during the presentation.

6. Conflicts of Interest

Research carried out in collaboration with industry may not only benefit society at large (public interest) by means of the results obtained from fulfilling academic and ethical responsibilities; benefits such as money, status, and rights (private interests) may also arise as a result of industrial collaboration.

A situation in which these two interests both arise in an individual researcher is known as a conflict of interest (COI).

The Japanese Society of Pathology requires that all authors of presentations given at the Annual Meeting disclose any conflicts of interest they may have.

All presenters are requested to include a slide on conflicts of interest (see example below) as the second of their presentation slides (immediately following the title page), or to include it at the bottom in the case of a poster presentation. Please see the links to the Japanese Society of Pathology below for further details.
