

SPONSORSHIP PROSPECTUS

The 8th World Congress of the International Society for Fertility Preservation
(ISFP)

ISFP 2024
Tokyo, Japan
November 15-17, 2024

Greeting from the President

Nao Suzuki, M.D., Ph. D.
8th President of the ISFP
Professor and Chair, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology,
St. Marianna University School of Medicine
Deputy Director, St. Marianna University Hospital

The ISFP was founded in 2006 by Dr. Jaques Donnez and Dr. Samuel Kim, pioneers in the field of fertility preservation for cancer patients, to promote research and clinical practice. The first World Congress of the ISFP was held in Brussels under the presidency of Dr. Donnez (the 1st president). Since then, this interdisciplinary area has been developed through the workings of the ISFP.

We are honored to host the Congress in Tokyo in 2024, two years after the last Congress held in Brussels. The last Congress was postponed one year from the 2019 Congress in New York due to the Novel Coronavirus pandemic, and it was a wonderful event at which we could resume contact with our many colleagues whose lives were interrupted by the disaster. At ISFP 2024 in Tokyo, I will be the first president from Asia (and the 8th president), and I believe that the congress will be packed with the latest information in this field for doctors as well as other medical professionals.

The main theme of the Congress will be "Rethinking Personalized Fertility Preservation and Cancer Survivors – Opening a New Frontier". Since the establishment of the ISFP in 2006, the pace of development in the field of fertility preservation has never been faster, and both cancer treatment outcomes and reproductive outcomes in this area have been reported in large numbers in recent years in the United States and Europe. However, there continues to be a growing need to further improve survivorship for childhood and AYA cancer patients who are seeking long-term survival.

We hope that this congress in Tokyo will provide an opportunity for members of the ISFP to explore the direction we should take in the future to further improve the survivorship of childhood and AYA cancer patients to ensure their long-term survival.

Autumn in Japan is the best season to visit, with its cooler weather and the leaves changing colors to golden yellow, light tan, crimson, and orange. We look forward to welcoming conference attendees from all over the world to Tokyo in November 2024.

ISFP2024: A great opportunity

ISFP2024 will cover numerous aspects within the domain of fertility preservation. Cancer treatment outcomes and reproductive outcomes in this area have been reported in large numbers in recent years in the United States and Europe. However, there continues to be a growing need to further improve survivorship for childhood and AYA cancer patients who are seeking long-term survival.

The organizers hope that this congress in Tokyo will provide an opportunity for members of the ISFP to explore the direction to take in the future to further improve the survivorship of childhood and AYA cancer patients to ensure their long-term survival.

A key goal of the congress is to present the state-of-the art and novel discoveries in these fields.

As a sponsor of the congress, you will be able to:

- Demonstrate your company's leadership in the field of fertility preservation
- Reach key thought leaders, academic and industry researchers and clinicians
- Strengthen and expand the effectiveness of the International Society for Fertility Preservation in promoting the above endeavors
- Raise your company's visibility in the field
- Exhibit and distribute your marketing and promotional materials
- Build relationships for the future

Please have a look at the many sponsorship opportunities offered in this prospectus. The earlier you plan, the better your chance of obtaining your first-choice sponsorship.
