

Malakh Shrestha MBBS, PhD

Malakh Shrestha is currently Professor of surgery and director of aortic surgery at the Mayo Clinic Rochester Minnesota. He is also the director of the Mayo clinic aortic center.

He completed his cardiac surgery residency and PhD from Hannover Medical School, Germany. Before moving to the Mayo Clinic in 2022, he was professor of cardiac surgery and vice chairman of the Department of Cardio-thoracic, transplantation and vascular surgery at the Hanover Medical School, Germany.

His main interests are in the field of valve sparing aortic root replacements and total aortic arch replacement with frozen elephant trunk hybrid grafts.

He is also a Visiting professor at the following Universities:

1. 2024 Hilgenberg Professor, Massachusetts General Hospital, Harvard University
2. Inaugural Barratt Boyles Visiting Professor 2024, Auckland, New Zealand
3. David Chan Visiting Professor 2017, Chinese University of Hong Kong
4. Visiting professor of Cardiac Surgery, University of Barcelona
5. Visiting professor of Cardiac Surgery, Tribhuvan University, Nepal

Affiliations:

Malakh Shrestha, MBBS, PhD
Director of Mayo Clinic Aortic Center
Director of Aortic Surgery, Cardio Vascular Surgery
Professor of Surgery
The Mayo Clinic